

Instructions on reserving a dog or cat's export inspection

Animal quarantine service introduces a complete reservation system for export inspections so that anybody who takes their pets abroad can have the inspection as he/she planned.

If you come without a reservation, obviously one with a reservation is prioritized.

We would ask you to make a reservation in another date or wait until all the reserved inspections are finished.

Pay attention that there is a possibility that you may not be in time for your flight departure.

How to reserve

1. Submit the application for export inspection.

Please submit the application form before 10 days you wish to get inspection by e-mail or NACCS system to Animal Quarantine Service where you wish to have your dog or cat's inspection.

2. Make the appointment.

Please fill in the 「remarks」 box what time and date you want to come for the export inspection or tell us by e-mail.

We will check the availability and reply to you about your reservation date and time. Also, please send Animal Quarantine Service needed documents for export quarantine attach to NACCS or by email systems.

When making a reservation, and at the time of export inspection, please note below.

- We recommend you have the export inspection by the day before your departure.

If we cannot confirm necessary documents at the time of export inspection, you need to reacquire them and may not be in time for your flight departure.

- Please arrive at our office well ahead of time to make it for your appointment.

If you come late for your reservation time, we would ask you to make a reservation in another date or wait until all the reserved inspections are finished.
