Brand Brewery 竹葉 数馬酒造

Cikuha Kazuma Sake Brewery Co., Ltd.

Kazuma Brewery began centuries ago as a maker of miso and soy sauce. When they found that the water they used was also very good for brewing sake, they became a sake brewery.

Kazuma uses locally grown rice, local water, and locally developed techniques, for sake that could only come from their home in the Noto Peninsula.

To help preserve the beauty of Noto for future generations, the brewery grows rice on what was once abandoned farm land, and uses that rice to brew sake.

竹葉 能登純米 Chikuha Noto Junmai

A junmai sake lauded by cooks worldwide, Kazuma Brewery's flagship sake, brewed with Yamadanishiki rice grown locally by local contract farmers and water from the Noto Peninsula. Its excellent balance of flavors makes it a treat with any meal, served in any style.

Awarded a Silver Medal in the Junmai Sake category of the 2014 International Wine Challenge.

(A delicious ways to drink)
When served around 15°C, this sake's delicate sweetness gives way to a refreshing acidity.

Food Pairing

Whitefish Sashimi

An excellent companion to fresh fish, whether served as sashimi, simmered, or as sushi. In particular, this sake's tart finish makes it especially good with fatty whitefish sashimi.

Cups for Well Suited Wine glass

Drinking sake from a wine glass helps highlight the full-bodied aroma, for a great way to enjoy the flavor in every sip.

Fermented Products from Sake Breweries NOTO SOAP

Eco-friendly — and skin-friendly — soap, hand-made with Chikuha sake and sake lees. Made without preservatives or other quality stabilizers, as well as absolutely no added synthetic scents or colors.
