Overview of Export Production Areas

- A federation of agricultural cooperatives specializing in dairy farming. As of April 2024, there were 390 farms shipping raw milk collected from producers and processed into LL milk for export.

Actions for Compliance with Export Regulations

- In order to maintain the high quality required by overseas buyers, the total number of bacteria is strictly set at 300,000/ml in this association standard, while the total number of bacteria is usually 4 million/ml in the milk as standard, and the milk is shipped within 72 hours after storage.

Promotional Points

- Kumamoto is a dairy kingdom that boasts the largest production of raw milk in western Japan. Fresh raw milk squeezed at the foot of Mt. Aso is processed with the latest equipment to produce long-life products that can be stored for long periods at room temperature.
